The deep intimate events in my story will bring you through the depths of my loss and my healing. It will show you there is a light at the end of the tunnel. My regrets, my challenges, and my understanding of the true meaning of life. A spiritual awakening of the soul, and living an authentic life. Hagan was only 16 years old when he lost his life in a head on collision with an eighteen wheeler truck carrying apples. He was on his way home from a date looking forward to another weekend with his family. It is a mystery of how the collision happened, but that split second it took to hit that truck head on instead of rolling off the side of the road changed the lives of many. His friends had to say goodbye to him and, his sister Hali had to learn to live without him. I had to learn not only to breathe again but to live again. His dad lost his best friend, and learned to love again. I learned step by step the process of grieving and healing. I had no idea that losing my son would set me up for the fight of my life. I learned I was a woman of strength through grief, depression, giving, sharing, and opening my heart to the truth. I fought for my own sanity while letting go of what my life did not need, living in a life of unconditional love.
